Sessions run for approximately 30 minutes unless noted otherwise. AEST is for the Brisbane, QLD time zone. Schedule subject to change.

The Global Animal Disaster Management Conference (GADMC) is an online conference with over 45 presenters from 16 countries across four continents to promote an animal inclusive approach to disaster management.

Hosted on Zoom, our online format offers a staggered series of free-to-view webinars in English allowing delegates to pick and choose sessions that are most relevant and convenient to them.

By attending online in real-time, delegates can interact with world leading experts. By attending real-time sessions delegates are also eligible to purchase an optional conference transcript that confirms the sessions they attended for their professional development records. As well, for every session attended, delegates go into the draw to win a Reach & Rescue system. For those that are unable to attend, a recording of the webinar will be made available later in the year.

GADMC has partnered with the Australian Institute for Disaster Resilience that will publish a special edition on animal disaster management in the Australian Journal of Emergency Management (AJEM) later this year. Content for this special issue will primarily come from commentaries and peer reviewed papers from the conference.

On behalf of the GADMC committee and our sponsors, we look forward having you register and attend this ground-breaking event. Please note all sessions in Brisbane (AEST/GMT+10) and 24 hour time.

Register today on our website for session URL information and updates.
